

I enjoyed reading your post and can agree with you when you say the reading helped you with your understanding of education. I also want to mention you had some very interesting points about figure 4.1, a way that I never looked at it! If you had a preference of learning what style would it be? Also, were you able to find some learning platforms you didn't realize you were using beforehand?